Dear Partners,

Budapest Metropolitan University (METU) is pleased to invite You and your Colleagues to participate at our International Week organized between 10-13 April 2017 in Budapest! Our topic is “Creativity and Internationalization”, reflecting two major challenges higher education institutions face today: how to develop creative thinking and how to enhance the process of internationalization to offer better experience and better outcomes for students in a multicultural environment.

This spring METU aims to bring teaching and non-teaching professionals together by offering a platform to discuss key challenges, exchange ideas and share best practices related to the above topics in addition to offering a great opportunity to network and discover potential ways of future cooperation with old and new partner institutions. Please find further details attached.

Please don't hesitate to forward this invitation to both teaching and administrative staff at your institution. If you are interested please register here: <https://goo.gl/forms/3vRZR2fKTNB3mWCt1> no later than 18 March 2017.

For further information please write to kkopasz@metropolitan.hu

Looking forward to meet see you in April!

Kind regards,

Károly Kopasz
