

Resume of Andrei Dornik

ANDREI DORNIK currently works as teaching assistant at the Department of Geography, West University of Timisoara. He graduated BSc Geography in 2010 and MSc Geographic Information Systems in 2012. In 2016 he achieved PhD in Geography with the thesis entitled “Geographic object-based image analysis for digital soil mapping in southwestern Romania”. Research interest focus on geographic information systems, geoinformatics and remote sensing for soil and environmental mapping and analysis. He published several scientific contributions in high rated journals such as Pedosphere, International Journal of Geographic Information Science, Applied Geography or Soil Research.