

Mihai Lisetchi, PhD, researcher and associate lecturer, West University of Timisoara (Romania), has an extensive experience in the development of social economy organizations (their management and governance), with background in consultative approaches to organizational impact and community integration. He is involved in the study and research of the social entrepreneurship, social enterprise, sharing economy and social innovation concepts, balancing the theory with community practice.