

Mihaela Vlăsceanu teaches Art History at the West University of Timișoara since 1995, she has received her doctorate in 2004 with a thesis on Baroque Sculpture in Banat from the Babeș-Bolyai University of Cluj-Napoca. As Associate Professor of the West University of Timișoara and researcher of the regional and European artistic phenomenon of the 18-20th centuries, she directed her research interests on a composite variety of subjects, mainly on the Baroque heritage of the Banat, investigating from comparative perspectives the monuments of architecture and monumental sculpture, their iconography and iconology and published articles, books and book chapters on some of the following subjects: The Iconography of Saints as represented in the Baroque Monumental Sculpture of Banat, in Transylvanian Review, vol. XXI, Supplement no. 1, 2012, Romanian Academy, Center for Transylvanian Studies, Cluj-Napoca, 2012, pp. 227-232. ISSN 2067-1016; Stylistical considerations on a Baroque monument from Timișoara - the church of St. Nepomuk, in Brukenthalia, 2017, pp. 801-811; 18th Century Serbian Architectural Principles in the former provinces of the Habsburg Empire, a case study on Banat and Hungary, in Ishodista, Novi Sad, 2017, pp.63-76; Considerations on the iconography of Mary in the Baroque sculpture from Timișoara, in Banatica, XXVIII, 2018, p. 849-855; Art and Ideology in Nineteenth Century Banat, in Euroregionalia. Journal of Interdisciplinary Studies, Timișoara Art Museum, 2019, pp. 111-128; Regional characteristics of Baroque Art in the Banat, (V. Neumann editor), The Banat of Timișoara, A European Melting Pot, Scala Arts & Heritage Publishers Ltd., Londra, 2019, pp. 161-180. ISBN-13: 978-1-78551-124-0.