

Invitation to METU International Week

Third International Week for Teaching and Non-Teaching Staff at Budapest Metropolitan University

26-29 March 2018

Budapest, Hungary

Budapest Metropolitan University is pleased to invite instructors and support staff members to its third spring I-Week event taking place from 26 to 29 March, 2018.

The theme, Creative Industries aims to reflect on two major issues: the role of the education industry as related to the concepts of creative economy and cultural industries as well as the ways higher education institutions might facilitate creative thinking thus generating knowledge and information with the additional aim of providing better services and experiences for students.

This spring METU aims to bring teaching and non-teaching professionals together by offering a platform to discuss key challenges, exchange ideas and share best practices related to the above topics in addition to offering a great opportunity to network and discover potential ways of future cooperation with old and new partner institutions.

You will also have the opportunity to explore the unique cultural scene of Budapest.

METU I-Week will include the following events:

- Welcome Meeting and networking
- Opening lecture
- Workshop on creative thinking
- University/country presentations
- University exhibitions
- Lectures integrated into regular classes
- Staff visits to institutes and support service departments
- Campus tour
- Social activities

The events are hosted by the Faculty of Arts and Creative Industries and the Faculty of Tourism and Economics on their respective campuses.

Registration is open until 31 January 2018.

Join us by completing the online registration form at <https://goo.gl/forms/mPry6330On2EA63q1>

If you cannot participate in the full event, feel free to join us for a shorter visit.
