We warmly invite academic, administrative and other staff members from your University to join us at the 2nd DUTH International Week, an event open to all partner or prospective partner University staff (teaching and administrative) from both programme and partner countries.

The International Week will be held in Alexandroupolis, Greece, from 2 to 7 October 2022. We will also make half-day trips to our campuses in Komotini and Xanthi and visit some of our Faculties.

Group/individual meetings with international Faculty coordinators and/or academic staff at different Faculties could be arranged on demand, according to participants' preferences.

We wish to open Democritus University of Thrace to our partners and other Universities in order to strengthen international cooperation by encouraging the exchange of best practices and experiences.

We plan to organize a mixture of workshops and presentations about our University. Participants will have the opportunity to present their University, as well as to network, benchmark and share ideas and good practices, while conducting training activities in a variety of fields.

There is no participation fee. We will cover cultural and social events and some meals costs, as specified in the programme. Accommodation and travel cost should be covered by participants (it is recommended to use an Erasmus + grant provided by your home University).

There will be a maximum number of 40 participants (15 from ICM and 25 from Erasmus+ programme countries)

We will consider the following criteria to select the participants:

- Geographical balance
- Administrative staff and academic representatives' proportionality

We will organise two selection rounds: the first one in 24 August (acceptance letters to be sent by 26 August) and, if there are spots remaining, a second one in 5 September (acceptance letters to be sent by 6 September). Registration will be open until the 5th of September 2022.

Preliminary programme is attached.

Application form: <https://forms.gle/KsptZumkmVAN1pXVA>

Updated information on the programme will be uploaded at the International Week's webpage to be communicated soon.

The 2nd DUTH International Week is eligible for Staff Training within Erasmus+, so participants will be asked to send us their Mobility Agreement - Staff Mobility for Training.

We encourage you to participate and forward this invitation also to your colleagues who may be interested in participating.

Should you have any more questions regarding our DUTH International Week 2022 do not hesitate to contact us (email: duthinternationalweek@gmail.com)

We look forward to welcoming you to Thrace!

Kindest regards,

The International Relations/Erasmus+ Office
